

American Tubing

Dear Prospective Util Auditors Client:

American Tubing, Inc is one of the leading manufacturers of copper assemblies for use in air conditioning and refrigeration industries. In addition to copper components, American Tubing has the capability to fabricate in other metals such as brass, cupronickel and aluminum. We pride ourselves in our diverse client base which consists of the automation and defense industries.

With such a wide range of clientele and being in a growing market, it is important to our success that we strive to continuously produce products that are of top quality but at a competitive price. Util Auditors found ways for us to cut costs in other areas that we didn't realize we should, all so that we can continue to thrive in our competitive market.

The staff at Util Auditors was always pleasant and professional and at the end of a generally non-invasive process for our staff at American Tubing, we not only save approximately $1,400 a month on our electric and gas bills, but Util was able to recover a hefty refund for us of monies we previously had paid that we never should have in the first place.

If not for Util Auditors we would still be paying those costs monthly and we wouldn't have this extra cash to put toward bettering our company and its products. For that we are very appreciative of the work Util has done and continues to do for us and we highly recommend them to other businesses looking for cost saving centers.

Sincerely,

Dwayne Buxton
Financial Manager
